MAN IN A RISK SOCIETY

The article deals with people in today's society. It studies the anthropological crisis. The origins of its reason are pluralistic, but among them is the state of the components of the education system: education, upbringing and training. On the one hand, society is characterized by easier work, wealth creation, and a progress in science and technology. On the other hand, it is on the way of a threatening anthropological crisis, as evidenced by the state of the institution of the family and family education, a growing lack of spirituality and irresponsibility, loss of humanity. Mankind is degrading, demonstrating savagery and barbarism in its actions.

It's time to recovery of the family and the elimination of errors in family education; Rehabilitation Education and resuscitation of morality; reform of education on the basis of a new paradigm of education system. Only through the spiritual world does the individual understand the need to transform the will to power over the circumstances into the will to power over oneself, which reveals to man his life meaning and makes it possible to see the light and see the true state of the world in which he lives.

Keywords: human, anthropological crisis, the educational system, training, education, training, risk society.
